H. B. 105, to provide for the better assessment and collection of revenues. Two bills were vetoed: H. B. 271, to authorize the appointment of trust companies as administrators, trustees, guardians, receivers, etc.; and H. B. 388, in regard to eligibility for notaries public.

The Millington Trial.

DENVER, April 13.—This is the seventy-fourth day of the Millington trial and the defense is rapidly drawing to a close and it is thought the case will be concluded within ten days.

Mrs. Smith, the housekeeper for Mrs. Harvin, the lady who keeps the boarding house where Mrs. Avery stayed when she was in Denver last year, was a witness for the defense this morning. Mr. Thomas asked her if she knew anything about Mrs. Avery coming in early one morning. She replied: "Yes, sir; I had been to Mrs. Avery's room and tapped. There was no answer. I had just left the room when I met Mrs. Avery at the end of the hall. I said: 'Why, Mrs. Avery, I thought you were asleep.' She said, 'No, I have been out to deliver a message.' Then she added, 'It is breaking my heart and my hair is disarranged. Am I too late for breakfast?' I said, 'No, I guess so.'"

"Had her room been occupied that night?" "Yes, sir; she occupied it every night while she was there."

Dr. Grant, the first expert for the defense, followed Mrs. Smith. Mr. Patterson propounded his hypothetical man with all the ailments Avery possessed, and then asked the doctor what he died of.

"Well, he had symptoms of several diseases. It would be impossible to say what particular disease he died of. There was evidence of a chronic disease of the stomach, the stomach symptoms were the predominating, or some other chronic disease of which we do not know. Bright's disease, perhaps, but, I say, I could not tell exactly what caused death. The bad sanitary condition would certainly tend to cause death and starvation: a serious effort having been made to feed and nourish the contributed."

"Would you say that he died of poisoning?" "No, sir; the symptoms would not indicate that he died of any kind of poisoning."

Dr. Patterson then described the post mortem condition of the viscera, calling attention to the fact that the intestines below the stomach were not inflamed. He pointed out that the post mortem examination of the viscera had disclosed no arsenic and that there was no arsenic found in the brain. When he asked this question: "What would you think of the man being poisoned?" "I should not think he died from poisoning at all."

But," continued Mr. Patterson, "suppose that six months after death the body was to be taken up and the bones and muscles be examined, and arsenic was found, a trace of it again in four ounces of muscle, varying from one-seventieth to one-twelfth of a grain in other parts of his body; but not here absent, what would you say in regard to the man being poisoned under these circumstances?"

"I cannot possibly understand," he replied, "how the quantity of arsenic you have mentioned could be found in the bones and muscles and none in the stomach and softer parts of the body, unless it was injected after death, or the first examination was faulty. The amount of arsenic in the body would have killed him in forty-eight hours. He would have died of acute arsenical poisoning. The symptoms in this case do not indicate any such conditions."

"Suppose, during this sickness, morphine was given to the patient in one-eighth grain doses each, what would have been the effect?" "If the man had retained it, it would certainly have produced unconsciousness, and possibly have endangered his life."

On cross examination Judge Ballard asked the question: "If arsenic was injected after death would it penetrate the bones?"

"Yes, sir; if the arteries were preserved intact."

Mr. Lemen was then called. "It seems to me," the doctor said, after Mr. Patterson's hypothetical question, "that he had gastritis and one thing. It seems quite clear his sanitary conditions were unfavorable, the mental depression was undoubtedly an influence. I think too, he was in a slight typhoidal condition. I don't mean to say typhoid fever, but I should say he was in a slight typhoidal condition."

"Should you say that he died of arsenical poisoning?"

"Well, it is very difficult for me to say. The symptoms of arsenical poisoning are very easily distinguishable. But I do think the man died of arsenical poisoning."

The remainder of Dr. Lemen's testimony did not differ materially from Dr. Grant's. Adjourned.

Mayor Grace Entertained.

DENVER, April 13.—The board of directors of the Denver chamber of commerce and board of trade entertained ex-Mayor Grace, of New York, at the Colorado club today. Toasts were laid for but sixteen persons. It was a purely social affair, and was one of the most pleasant of the kind ever given in this city. Ex-Senator Tabor presided, and while talking politics engaged the gentlemen present, Mr. Grace will go back to New York convinced that Colorado, without regard to party, is in favor of the free coinage of silver.

The Burlington Strike.

DENVER, April 13.—Notwithstanding the statement made by the strikers in Chicago that the Burlington yards that the road is partially manned and freight is being handled the company is doing their usual business today and sending out and receiving freight as promptly as usual. No road has refused to receive Burlington cars, and a hundred loads were sent out over the Rio Grande today, while all others for points on other lines were received without any question. The company declares that there was no strike here, the men had no grievances and made no complaint, but simply quit work without a moment's notice and their places were filled by new men within a few hours. The old men received their time checks today. There was no demonstration and no prospect of further trouble.

Trainmen Will Not Help.

LINCOLN, Neb., April 13.—Grand Master Newman of the Trainmen's brotherhood has ordered all of the striking Burlington brakemen to go to work and declares the statement of the Knights of Labor brotherhood in asserting that the Trainmen's order would uphold the strike was unwarranted. The position of the order is that they can do nothing but await the Trainmen's decision. Saturday refused to call.

Medical Board Appointed.

DENVER, April 13.—Governor Routt today appointed for the state board of medical examiners Dr. C. N. Hall of Denver, Dr. B. J. Perry of Aspen, and Dr. Rufus N. Mayfield of Ouray. The term is for six years. Charles H. Powers of Cortez was appointed public administrator for Montezuma county.

Fighting for a Theatre.

DENVER, April 13.—M. B. Leavitt, the former lessee of the Broadway theatre, who was so summarily ousted a few days ago by the owners, has filed suit against the owners to recover possession of the theatre. The court took the matter under advisement and it is expected a decision will be rendered tomorrow.

A Light Sentence.

DENVER, April 13.—Joseph N. Barnes, convicted of murder in the second degree for the killing of Officer Wanless last September, was today sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary. The jury recommended executive clemency, which Judge Allen granted and gave the prisoner the lowest sentence possible.

Count Lewenhaupt Dead.

WILMINGTON, Del., April 13.—Count Lewenhaupt, who recently married Miss Bayard died this morning. The marriage of the count to Miss Ellen, youngest daughter of ex-Secretary of State Thomas F. Bayard, took place at noon on April 2, little more than a week ago, at the Bayard homestead, Delaware place, in Wilmington.

Count Lewenhaupt was a member of a noble family of Sweden, but having chosen to make his home in the United States preferred to be considered as a private individual, and, it is said, requested his friends to drop his title when addressing him. He was very popular in society circles, and his marriage with Miss Bayard was considered an extremely happy one.

The count died suddenly at his home, No 1017 Adams street, in this city, shortly after 6 o'clock this morning. His illness was short and no one outside of his immediate family was aware that his life was in peril, until the sad news of his death was announced.

Dr. Bullock, the physician in attendance, states that Count Lewenhaupt had been indisposed for the past two or three weeks. He was, however, able to be about until Friday, when Dr. Bullock was summoned. The physician found his patient suffering from a malignant attack of typhoid fever, and the dread malady resisted every effort to stay its ravages.

Directly after the wedding breakfast the count and his bride left for Washington, ostensibly for their home, where he died. It was their intention to remain here until May 1, when they were to have left for a European trip of about four months. The count had looked forward with great pride to presenting his fair, American bride to his family and to his sovereign at Stockholm. The date of the funeral has not been decided upon, but the interment will be made in the Bayard vault in the old Swedes Episcopal churchyard. The count was in the 31st year of his age, while the countess is aged 21 years.

Commercial Congress.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 13.—At 10 o'clock tomorrow State Senator Kelly of Kansas will call the first Western States Commercial Congress to order. Governor Francis of Missouri, will deliver the address of welcome to the delegates. The programme of the convention is the discussion of the following subjects: "General Business and Agricultural Depression Cause and Remedy;" "Legislation Affecting Commerce, Transportation and Finance;" "Transportation and Improvement of Waterways, Lake, Gulf and Pacific ports;" "Markets for Western Products;" "Free Coinage, Metallic Money and Paper Currency," "Taxation," "Immigration," "Reciprocity and International Trade Extension," "Promotion of Manufacturing Interests," "Irrigation of Arid Lands," "Uniform Commercial Laws," "Western Mineral Land and Their Development," "Settlement of Unoccupied Lands," "Cause and Effects of Business Combinations and Trusts," "Federal and State Statistics," "The Indian Question and Opening of Indian Lands."

Western Gun Works.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13.—It is entirely within the possibilities that a great gun plant may be established here. Irving M. Scott has thoroughly looked into the subject of gun making and is of the opinion that such a plant, started by private capital, if managed well would pay investors handsomely. His practical knowledge has been thoroughly demonstrated by the success achieved in the building of war vessels. Much attention has been paid by him to the processes of gun manufacturing in the east and these have been carefully considered as applicable to this locality. "I am convinced, said he today, "that if the capitalists of San Francisco will supply the necessary money, the plant can be established here at a cost not exceeding $5,000,000 with a capacity to manufacture gun rings and other forging required by the government in both quality and size equal to any produced by Whitworth, Krupp, Cruesott, or at Bethlehem, Pa.

Sentenced to Be Shot.

EL PASO, Tex., April 13.—J. C. Clayton implicated in the killing of S. F. Cavitt the well-known cattle man, in Juarez, Mexico, a few years ago, has been sentenced to be shot. The sentence was read to him in the prison this afternoon. He has appealed and will be taken before the higher court of Chihuahua. It will be remembered that W. S. Bolton, who was also a party, indeed, was the principal party to the killing of Cavitt, escaped from the jail last December by passing the guard on visitors' day to the jail disguised as a soldier, and he is supposed to be in safe hiding now somewhere in this state, while Clayton, who took up the fight, is to be shot.

CLEVELAND SPEAKS.

JEFFERSON'S BIRTHDAY CELEBRATED IN NEW YORK.

Distinguished Democrats Listen to the Gospel of Glorified Democracy. It is Responsible for a Great Country and a Free People.

NEW YORK, April 13.—Thomas O. Bell and J. M. Ivey, two governors of the Democratic club, gave a sumptuous dinner tonight at the club house, Fifteenth street and Fifth avenue, in commemoration of Thomas Jefferson's birthday. President Arnold of the board of aldermen presided. He was flanked by Grover Cleveland and Governor Abbett of New Jersey. Among those present were: Ex-Mayor Smith Ely, Jr., Mayor Grant, ex-Governor Biddle of New Jersey, Colonel R. Pryor, Comptroller Myers, Recorder Hackfield, Sewer Commissioner Beatty, C. L. Dresell of Connecticut, Adolph L. Sanger, Judge Ehrlich, Judge Vanwyck, John C. Calhoun and Commissioner Ridgeway.

Ex-President Cleveland spoke as follows: "I desire first of all to express my thanks to the promoters of the occasion for the pleasure which a place in this company affords me and to congratulate the Democratic club upon the indication of prosperity and enterprise supplied by its ownership of this beautiful and commodious house. The maintenance of such a center for the cultivation and dissemination of Democratic principles, together with the activity and earnestness of the club, furnish the most gratifying evidence that those who abide here fully realize the value and importance of concentrating political endeavor and thorough organization in behalf of true Democracy. It seems to me that the atmosphere which pervades this place is ill suited to selfish and ignoble designs: and I feel that at this moment I am surrounded by influences which invite patriotic partisanship and disinterested devotion to party principles. This association is most agreeable, for I am glad to be called a partisan if my partisanship is patriotic. If partisan be correctly defined as "one who is violently and passionately devoted to a party or interest," I must plead guilty to the charge of being a Democratic partisan so long as the Democratic party is true to its creed and traditions, and so long as conditions exist which to my understanding make adherence to its doctrines synonymous with patriotism.

It is a glorious thing to belong to a party which has a history beginning with the first year of our government and achievements interwoven with all that has made our country great and kept our people free. It is an inspiring thing to know that by virtue of our party membership we are associated with those who resist the attempt of arrogant political power to interfere with the independence and integrity of popular suffrage, who are determined to relieve our countrymen from unjust and unnecessary burdens, who are intent upon checking extravagance in public expenditures and who act party purposes by wholesome legislation for the interest and welfare of the people of the land.

Those considerations furnish to those who live in the country the highest and most incentives to constant and faithful effort in the cause of true Democracy. We are assembled on this occasion that we not only have a proud history and glorious traditions but that our party has as illustrious founders, whose services and teachings have done as much to justify and make successful our government by the people and for the people as any American who ever lived. A claim to such political ancestry, is of itself sufficient to lend honor and pride to membership in a party which preserves in their vigor and purity the principles of that Democracy which was established by Thomas Jefferson. Never believed more implicitly in the political instruction of the people than the great founder of our party—and the first triumph of Democratic principles, under his leadership, was distinctly the result of a campaign of education. So, too, in the light of our last great victory, no man who desires Democratic success will deny the supreme importance of a most thorough and systematic presentation to the people of the reasons which support the sound and accepted purposes of our party. Those who now sneer at efforts in that direction are our enemies whether they confront us as confessed opponents or whether they are traitors, skulking within our camp. It seems to me this is peculiarly a time when the Democratic party should be mindful of its relations to the country, of its responsibilities as the guardian of sound principles, and of its duty to a confiding people. In the rejoicing which success permits, let us remember that the mission of our party is continued warfare. We cannot accomplish what we promised to the people if we allow ourselves to be diverted from the perils which are still in our way. Blindness to danger and neglect of party organization and discipline, are invitations to defeat. We cannot win permanent and substantial success by putting aside principle and grasping after temporary expedients. We shall court disaster if we relax industry in commending to the intelligence of our countrymen the cause which we profess and we tempt humiliating failure and disgrace when we discourage or tolerate those who claiming fellowship with us needlessly and often from the worst of motives seek to stir up strife and sow discord in our party.

Governor Abbott followed in the same strain.

Other speakers were ex-governor Beddle, O. B. Potter and ex-mayor Smith Ely, Jr.

Proctor Interviewed.

WASHINGTON, April 13. Since the return of Secretary Proctor yesterday morning there has been great desire to obtain some authoritative statement from him concerning the rumor that he was about to resign for business reasons, and also whether or not he would consent to be a candidate for the United States senate to succeed Senator Edmunds. This afternoon, in response to repeated importunities, he finally made the following statement to the representative of the United Press:

"I have been absent from Washington for a month on the business of the department, and have returned in the regular course of my trip, having simply timed my return so as to see the president before he leaves the city tomorrow. All rumors that I have any present intention of resigning are without foundation. As to my business in this city, I have none which requires my attention or none to which I should give considerable attention if I were out of office. I suppose it is unnecessary for me to say that my relations with the president and my associates are, as they always have been, of the most agreeable and harmonious character. With respect to the senatorship, I find on my return, by the receipt of letters and the press comments from Vermont, that a good many of my friends are anxious that I should succeed Senator Edmunds. The position of senator from my state has for a good many years been somewhat unique, and it is not and never has been, within my memory, considered as a place permitting any candidacy in the usual sense. Vermont has a number of men capable and worthy to represent her in the United States senate, though it could not be hoped that any one could fill the place of Senator Edmunds, whose resignation has been received, as it must naturally have been, with the greatest regret, and who for twenty-five years has represented Vermont in the United States senate to the equal honor of himself and his state, and the great advantage of the country. Should the position in due time be offered to me with the hearty approval and good will of the people of the state, I should gravely feel at liberty to decline the honor and the opportunity to serve them, who have so many times shown the confidence in me. But the senator's resignation does not take effect until next November, and in the meantime Governor Page has plenty of time to carefully weigh the matter and take such action as he deems to be best for the interests of the state and most in accord with the wishes of her people."

The Direct Tax.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—First Comptroller A. C. Matthews, of the treasury department, has recommended to Secretary Foster that the following amounts be withheld from the amounts due the several states on account of the direct tax: California, $812; Georgia, $129; Illinois, $17,807; Massachusetts, $476; Michigan, $569; Minnesota, $521; New Hampshire, $754; Oregon, $472; Rhode Island, $11,925; Vermont, $543,780; Virginia, $626; Wisconsin, $531; New Mexico, $597; Washington, $395; District of Columbia, $31,354.

The amounts are charged on the books of the department as against the states named for arms, etc., overdrawn by them under section 1661 prior to February 12, 1887. Other indebtedness of states to the general government may be found on the books of the treasury and other departments are being examined very carefully in order to discover any balance states may owe the general government. In the cases specified it may be found that the amounts cannot be legally held, an offset to the government refunding the direct tax to the states, but the amounts named will be held until the question can be legally determined.

Governor Fleming and ex-governor Wilson of West Virginia were at the department of justice today and made an appointment with Solicitor General Taft for an argument, to whether West Virginia can legally be paid her share of the direct tax. The hearing will take place in about three weeks and the collateral questions involved are of vastly more importance than the direct question at issue. First Comptroller Matthews has held up the payment to the state of West Virginia of her share of the direct tax, on the ground that the state of Virginia, at the time that West Virginia became a state owed the United States more than $1,500,000 on Indian trust bonds. When West Virginia became a state she agreed to pay her share of the indebtedness of Virginia, both state and national. When the direct tax was levied, West Virginia paid her share out of the state treasury. The state of Virginia paid her share by government agents collecting it from individuals and by the terms of the direct tax law, which provides that the tax paid by individuals cannot be withheld by the general government of the debt due from the state, is therefore entitled to a refund of the amount collected.

But in the case of West Virginia, whose direct tax was paid by the state, her share has been held up for her part of the original Virginia state debt to the general government and the question in all its phases is likely to be again brought to public notice when Governor Fleming and Wilson make their arguments to show that the government has no power to withhold West Virginia's share of the direct tax for a debt owed by Old Virginia.

The decision of the attorney general on the matter will have by inference on important bearing as to West Virginia's share of indebtedness to Virginia on the state debt, which has been a subject of dispute and has figured in the politics of the Old Dominion for many years, giving rise to the readjuster party, the Riddleberger act and other laws.

Treasury Holiday Bonds.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—The following correspondence explains itself:

TREASURY OF THE UNITED STATES,
WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.

To the President:

SIR: I would respectfully tender my resignation as treasurer of the United States, to take effect when it may be convenient to make my successor.

Acknowledging my deep sense of gratitude for the kindness received at your hands, I remain, yours,

JAMES HEATON,
Treasurer of the United States.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, April 4.

Hon. John Huston:

SIR: I have directed action upon your letter of February 24, tendering your resignation of the office of the treasurer of the United States for the reason known to you. I now yield to your request to be relieved from the duties of your office and accept your resignation to take effect upon the appointment and qualification of your successor.

I regret that your personal affairs compel you to this step and beg to assure you of my sincere and continued regard and best wishes. Very sincerely yours,

BENJAMIN HARRISON.

The president this afternoon appointed Enos H. Nebecker of Indiana, treasurer of the United States to succeed J. N. Huston of Indiana, whose resignation takes effect upon the qualification of his successor. Mr. Nebecker left for Indiana on the 3.30 train this afternoon. It will be about ten days before Mr. Nebecker qualifies. He will have to give a bond of $150,000 upon taking the oath of office and again when he is confirmed by the senate he will have to give a new bond for a like amount. When he assumes charge of the office all the money in the United States treasury will have to be counted. A committee consisting of three persons, one representing the outgoing treasurer, one representing the incoming treasurer, and one one representing the secretary of the treasury will be appointed to supervise the count of the money. This committee will be assisted by about fifty clerks in counting the currency, bonds and securities. It will take this force about three weeks to count the currency, after the currency is counted the heavy work begins, that of weighing the coin.

There are now 400 tons weight of coin in the treasury to be counted. Approximately there are now in the vaults $601,320,000. Until the count is completed and the money found correct the bond of Treasurer Huston is not released.

World's Fair Congress.

CHICAGO, Ill., April 13.—A meeting of German associations held last night it was decided to call a meeting of the German Singing societies of Chicago on May 3 to make arrangements for a World's Fair Sengerfest in Chicago during the World's Fair. It was reported at the meeting that from correspondence recently had with leading German singers in the various European capitals it was learned that there was an universal feeling in favor of such a movement.

A GLOOMY VIEW.

PROPHECIES OF DISASTER BY A FRENCH SENATOR.

European Nations Trembling on the Verge of Bankruptcy and War They Envy and Admire the United States. France Will Fight for Alsace-Lorraine.

PARIS, April 13.—Apropos of the future increase of the effectiveness of the French army and of the minister of war's demand on the budget committee of the chamber of deputies for further appropriations, Senator Barthelemy St. Hilaire, minister of foreign affairs, today assisted Press correspondent: "It becomes more and more evident that France is on the high road to bankruptcy. We often hear that France is one of the richest countries in Europe. This is quite true. So too, we ought to call a man rich who had an income of a million francs a year, but suppose he spent each year 1,500,000 francs, and suppose he keeps on doing so year after year, what would his wealth amount to under such circumstances? And yet this is just what France is doing and has been doing for a very long time. The upshot of the whole thing must be that we shall have to repudiate our debts as we did in the first revolution and start afresh.

I greatly admire the magnificent manner in which the United States has gone on paying off its tremendous debts contracted during the war. We ought to imitate in a small way their example. But several circumstances oppose this. In the first place, the wastefulness of our great departments of government is something frightful. While it cannot be said that there is any outright stealing of the public funds, the extravagance is tremendous, and no government dares incur the anger of the politicians in cleaning out this Augean stable.

Then again, our military system is so expensive and keeps on growing more so every day that it seems an almost hopeless task to try to stop this suicidal financial policy. We cannot reduce our army, for there stands that Alsace-Lorraine difficulty still undecided. What an unpardonable sin it was for Germany to take those provinces. We would have willingly have paid many more millions of francs could we have preserved our territory intact. But France will never abandon Alsace-Lorraine without a struggle, which when it comes will be a deadly one. France must win or be effaced from the map of Europe like Poland. She will fight to the last man, for she will that her very existance as a nation depends upon victory. And if she comes off victorious, in what a exhausted state she will probably be left! The ordinary financial situation would be rendered more oppressive by the increased expenditures of the supreme struggle which will weigh down upon the bleeding nation and bankruptcy will then be inevitable.

The Italian Rumor.

ROME, April 13.—Up to noon today it had been impossible to learn anything further concerning the report that the Italian cabinet had decided to request United States Minister Porter to leave Rome in consequence of the receipt of Rudini's last note is received from Secretary Blaine by telegraph. Officials are delighted and [illegible] to offer definite confirmation or denial.

At the American legation nothing can be learned. Minister Porter has learned nothing except what he has gained from the papers. In well informed circles the prevailing opinion, as nearly as one can gather, is that the position [illegible] at this juncture. It is argued that whatever beneficial effects such a display of vigor might have in increasing the popularity of the present cabinet must be only temporary, inasmuch as it would leave the New Orleans incident farther from a settlement than ever, while the American government would doubtless be so irritated by the Italian policy as to make any settlement impossible.

While the prevailing opinion is that Marquis di Rudini will not take the rash step reported to be in contemplation, the report still continues to show some vitality. Word comes from Paris that the Journal Des Debats this morning prints a dispatch from its Rome correspondent, reasoning that the Italian government had really threatened to give the United States minister his passports, unless Secretary Blaine replied by to-morrow, but it is believed here that the correspondent of this journal was simply repeating the report in circulation here Saturday and had no further authority for it.

The Chilian Revolution.

PANAMA, April 4.—The Argea Tacora sailed on February 27. The steamer, which arrived yesterday was the Mount Tabor, which brought 100 refugees from Iquique, and the majority of them at once proceeded by train to Tacqua. A correspondent writes from Iquiquez: "What is coming in the unfortunate port is something unheard of, and it leads one to believe that no civilized beings live there. Passengers state that the vagabonds there are robbing, plundering, murdering, violating women and committing all classes of atrocities, while incendiaries are also engaged in their nefarious and villainous operation of destruction and pillage."

The Lima Diario of March 13 says: "The government of Chili has determined to establish an army 30,000 strong at Tarapaca and in it the corps will be manned which are now scattered and which consist of 300 men at Autofagasta, 5000 at Atacama and 3000 at Coquimbo. The determination to mass this army was reached subsequent to the fall of Iquique."

The disorder along the south coast, due to the revolution, is appalling, as will be observed from the different reports. The following, which is translated from The Opinion Nacional of Lima, of March 13, will serve as an example:

The steamship Leon, which arrived yesterday from the south, brought 400 refugees from different nationalities. There were women, children and old men and as they have no place to go they have been allowed to remain on the wharves of the Muelle Darsena company. M. Kalinowski, the manager of the Muelle Darsena company (the Callao landing) has opened a subscription list, heading it with $200, in order to assist these unfortunates, and we trust that the list will soon show a handsome figure."

To Coerce Russia.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Rev. L. Mueller, a native of St. Petersburg, delivered a lecture to-night upon the persecution of Lutheranism in Russia. The speaker gave a historical review of the Lutherans in Russia, beginning with the absorption of the Baltic provinces by Peter the Great, in 1851. Mr. Mueller claimed that no Lutheran had been exiled to Siberia for being concerned in political plots or conspiracies, and in the great Lutheran university at Dorpat, where there are 1400 students, there has never been any revolt or uprising. The Greek church has been forcing Lutheranism to the wall by royal enactments and the religious freedom guaranteed to the Baltic provinces, Finland and Poland is really disregarded.

Mr. Mueller suggests as a remedy for this state of affairs the creation of an international sentiment so that European governments in their treaties with Russia shall insist upon the incorporation into such treaties of provisions securing immunity from laws legislating religious profession, association and observance. This would result in the isolation of Russia, and would compel her to yield from motives of policy if for no higher reason.

Postal Guide Without Ads.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Last year the postmaster general after frequent endeavors failed to obtain an issue of the postal guide without advertisements, owing to the limited appropriation of $18,000 at his command, and the circumstance that the advertising franchises were very valuable. At the last session of congress he succeeded in obtaining an appropriation of $19,000 and has just called for bids for the ensuing fiscal year, in which call it is stipulated that intending bidders shall not be permitted to place any kind of advertising whatsoever in the postal guide. They will be permitted neither to insert advertisements for others nor publish their own. This will result in a dignified publication wholly free from advertisements of pills and other quack nostrums, wooden legs, soap and others of like character.

The President Starts.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—President Harrison left Washington on his southern and western trip to-night at 12.10 a. m. The other members of the party who will live for the next thirty days in the sumptuously fitted Pullman cars that comprise the presidential train are Mrs. Harrison, Mrs. Dimmick, Mrs. McKee, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Harrison, Secretary Rusk, who will go as far as El Paso, Tex., Postmaster General Wanamaker, Daniel M. Ransdell, marshal of the District of Columbia, F. E. Tibbatt, executive clerk; George W. Boyd, assistant general passenger agent of the Pennsylvania railroad, who will have charge of the party during the entire trip; Mrs. Boyd, R. V. Outhshan, of the United Press; A. L. Clarke, of the Associated Press; and O. P. Austin, of the Press News association; Col. James L. Taylor, general passenger agent of the Richmond and Danville system and S. H. Hardwick, of the Georgia Pacific division of the same system.

Major A. P. Bangor, of the army will accompany the party, through the courtesy of Secretary Proctor as a personal aide to the president. Secretary Proctor and a number of other prominent officials were at the depot and waited to see the train and excursionists depart.

Canvassing the Vote.

CHICAGO, April 13.—The board of election commissioners this morning resumed the official canvass of the vote cast at the last election. The First ward was canvassed on Saturday, and the board to-day took up the Second ward, which was completed with the precincts subject to later revision. The result for mayor compared with the police returns made on the night of the election showed a gain of four for Cregier (Dem.) and losses of seven to Washburne (Rep.), sixty-nine by Floor Washburn (Cit.) and thirty-four by Harrison (Ind. Dem.) The only change in the Third ward was a gain of one vote for Morgan (Socialist). The only change in the Fourth ward was a loss of nine votes by Fitz to Washburn.

[illegible] resumed the official count of the votes cast in the recent municipal election. The Fifth and Sixth wards were completed and the board adjourned for the day. In the Fifth ward there was no material change from the police returns, but in the Sixth ward Cregier, for mayor, [illegible] Washburn, [illegible] 3, and Harrison gained 1, as compared with the police returns. So far the count shows a net loss of 21 votes for Cregier; a net loss of 177 for Harrison, and a net gain of 57 for Rimer Washburn, Ind. Rep. The count of the Sixth ward today shows that J. O'Brien, Democratic candidate for alderman, was elected by a plurality of 27. This gives the Democratic majority of 5 in the coming city council.

ST. LOUIS, April 13.—A dispatch from San Antonio, Tex., says: Two sleeping coaches, the Rosalia and Vallejo, coming between the City of Mexico, San Antonio and Washington, D. C., via the Mexican National railroad reached here yesterday in a dilapidated condition. The Mexicans in which they were attached passed through a cyclone near Saltillo, near Torreon, Mexico, Saturday night. So large were the stones that the headlight of the engine, and every pane of glass on one side of the train of cars were smashed as if they had been struck by rocks. The tin roofs were battered so badly that not a particle of paint remained. Several persons in the day coaches were injured and a Mexican at Torreon was killed. The train was forced to stop half an hour until the storm passed. Those in the sleeper who touched here say the cyclone must have created great havoc.

Defying the Law.

BURLINGTON, Ia., April 13.—An open revolt against the prohibitory law occurred in this city today. A county constable named Green who has been a searcher in connection with a justice court at Mediapolis came to Burlington with three deputies and began to search the place of one Hirchberg. Before he had finished reading the warrant he was surrounded by an organized band of about forty well known liquor dealers, who administered a terrible beating to him. Green's skull was fractured his nose bone broken and one eye nearly destroyed. His three deputies deserted him at the first blow and escaped from the crowd.

However unpleasant may be the utterances of some Italian newspapers published in the United States, the government of this country has too much [illegible] dignity to prosecute them for [illegible] or conspiracy. These unbridled scribes only hurt themselves by their wild utterances.

It is probable that if the Italian government should declare war against this country some correspondent would write to one of our evening contemporaries saying that King Humbert was [illegible] at the GAZETTE for publishing the news, and that the "details of the personal appearance of the unfortunate" Mafiana was what caused the war.

The recent fire in Chicago again illustrates the progress made in methods of fighting fire in cities. Sunday, it was probably not one tenth as great as it would have been had it been left untouched, or if it had been opposed only by such means as were employed in the days when, occurring in December not long ago.

Opportunity [illegible] here. It was [illegible] of a great display to show the heroism of Patrick Shaughnessy, the Chicago policeman. The [illegible] future lies in a large measure in the fact that always in moments of [illegible] there will be brave and [illegible]. But opportunity [illegible] heroes except of men of [illegible]. Nothing can be brought to the surface except what has existed beneath.

It is to be hoped that the ordinance which [illegible] the name of Huerfano street to something more common [illegible] the consideration of which [illegible] by the council [illegible] received its quietus, and [illegible] the [illegible] and unique nomenclature of our streets will be changed to [illegible] have suggested. In the expenditure of such large sums for so important a purpose the committee has been considerably aided by the citizens' committee. The action taken has showed good judgment and commendable promptness and industry. While it is not safe to guarantee that the city will in future remain free from legal annoyances in this matter, and while predictions as to the amount of population for which the "present supply will suffice" are very uncertain, it is true that the city is in far better shape regarding this most important matter than ever before, and for this due credit should be given to those by whom it was accomplished.

CHICAGO'S FIRE.

Great Destruction of Property Sunday Evening.

CHICAGO, April 13.—Chicago yesterday evening suffered one of the most destructive conflagrations that has occurred here since the big fire of 1871. The loss is fully $750,000. It was at almost the exact geographical centre of the city that the flames started, and, like the terrible disaster twenty years ago, began in a stable. The stable was the property of the well known furniture manufacturer and politician, John M. Smythe, and was located in the rear of his big house furnishing establishment on West Madison street, near Halsted street. The flames speedily communicated to the furniture establishment and a moment later to Kohl & Middleton's dime museum. In less than five minutes smoke was pouring from every window in the museum, and was enveloping the huge six-story building occupied by Smythe. When, in a marvelously short interval, both structures had turned into a mass of flame, great fiery tongues darted across the street and lodged in the upper story of the buildings on the north side of Madison street. A moment later the firemen along the thoroughfare found themselves working between two towering walls of fire. For a time it looked as though the conflagration would get beyond control, and that, as in 1871, it would sweep toward the lake, directly across the business district of the city.

As if to add to the consternation, the wind had suddenly arisen and was blowing a stiff [illegible] ... [illegible] ... [illegible] ...

RIDER HAGGARD'S WIFE

INTERVIEWED IN NEW YORK BY MARGARET MANTON.

She Is a "Typical English Woman," but She Knows the Value of Pleasant Words, and Says She Likes American Women and Thinks They Well Bred

[Special Correspondence.]

NEW YORK, April 9.—English women are easily identified always. They have more distinct nationality than any other race of women in the world. It is not necessary, therefore, to say that Mrs. H. Rider Haggard, the wife of the writer of mystical and mythical fiction, is a typical English woman. Whatever story imaginings Mr. Haggard may have concerning his story wives, his real wife is very practical and very sensible.

Mrs. Haggard is thirty years old, and looks about twenty-six. She is of medium height and size, has a trim, shapely figure, blue eyes with a sparkle in them, and wavy brown hair, which she wears brushed plainly away from her face and in honest into a French twist.

On the day that I saw her in her rooms at the Victoria hotel she wore a neat tailoring suit of brown cloth. It was neither made, very plain, and fitted perfectly. She was busy with her packing, for it was on Tuesday, and she began her homeward journey to England the next day.

There was not much to pack, however, for all the [illegible] that had been purchased by hand had gone astray and had been carried back to Mexico.

"We've been invited out to dinner at Rhinodore Huges' tonight," said Mrs. Haggard, "and we haven't a dress suit for a dinner dress among us, but we are doing just the same; the hospitality of the Americans is so hearty that dress doesn't seem to matter."

Mrs. Haggard talked in a free, unconventional way, smiling often and showing a perfect set of white, even teeth. She is very much tanned from her long stay in Mexico, but usually she must be a very fair complexion, if one may judge from her hair and eyes, and the white line that shows just below the collar of her dress.

She gave a very amusing account of the way in which she and Mr. Haggard met each other. It was only a mission-standing after all. She thought they were to meet at Frontinelle, and he understood that he was to go back to Vera Cruz, and so they passed each other. Mr. Haggard laughed for a little at the joke, one suggested that her husband had found in some lonesome cave a beautiful Mexican princess, who had so enraved him that he had forgotten all about his wife.

"If," said the lady gayly, "he had been able to find anything Aztec that was beautiful, I should have forgiven him for staying, even though it had been a princess."

Mrs. Haggard's description of Mexican and Mexican houses is not calculated to make anyone wish to visit Mexico for pleasure. She does not care to go there again, but she does want to see the United States, and says that when the book on Mexico has been written the end her husband are coming for a months' tour through the country.

Haggard expresses a great desire to visit California and inspect a gold mine.

She finds American women very clever and amusing, she says, and does not at all agree with those of her country who have pronounced them forward. "I have met," she said, "the women of New York, and but a few of them. I like them immensely; they never bore you, they are versatile and bright, womanly and charming, and to me they seem exceedingly well bred."

Asked Mrs. Haggard if she did not sometimes feel overpowered by her husband's immense popularity. "Oh, dear, no," she replied, laughing; "I am very glad to remain in the background. Attention, like everything else, grows tiresome when one has too much of it."

When Mrs. Haggard talked of geniuses she said. She said they were apt to be eccentric, and not easy to get on with, especially in a domestic way. I looked at her inquiringly, and she hastened to add: "Oh, I forgot that you might be thinking of my husband as a genius. Well, if you do, he's not one of the sort of man, because I do not think him eccentric in the least, though one would naturally think he must be after reading his books. We are often much amused at the letters we receive from people who try to explain Mr. Haggard's books to him. They think they have discovered some hidden mystical meaning, and want to ask if they are correct. It is so funny."

Mrs. Haggard's new book will be a story of Mexican antiquity. He will not be at all with the Mexico of today.

During my interview with his wife Mr. Haggard came in. He is tall, over six feet, and blonde as the Saxons in his books. He has the full forehead and large eyes which physiognomists look upon as evidences of a vast imagination.

When I had called to present her daughter, a young miss of about sixteen, a very fashionable girl she seemed, for she curtsied up to the novelist, and in a voice that fairly quivered with excitement exclaimed:

"Oh, Mr. Haggard, I've so longed to meet you! Did you really write 'She?' I claim to have done so," calmly replied Mr. Haggard. "But how did you think about it—what first suggested it? Do tell me!" Here the young miss's mother came to the rescue, and Mr. Haggard was spared the analysis of his book.

Mrs. Haggard has accompanied her husband on most of his trips in out of the way places, and enjoys the change and novelty. She has been married for years, so that all of her husband's work has been acquired since he knew her. Who knows but she has been his inspiration?

The Controversy About Adipose.

Men's now fat and thin men are the subject of some controversy. It is declared by the standard of manly beauty is fitness, but not superfluous flesh or [illegible] things. This leaves the way open for the loan and the opponent to join hands in self defense. Cæsar and Cassius were lightweights, yet they made the earth tremble in their time. On the other hand, Pompey the Great measured more about his waist than he did in stature. Indeed, the question of pounds cuts a small figure in a man's life. Alexander Stephens was a pigmy and Senator David Davis a colossus, yet each of them got there just the same, so far as good repute and intellectual superiority are concerned.

An Impossibility.

Amateur Actor (to prompter)—Say, I tackled your ten dollars to be out of this. When I go on the stage I'm sure that I'll have no fear of stage fright. My teeth are chattering now.

Prompter—Well, there is one point you can rest easy on.

Amateur Actor—What's that?

Prompter—Your knees won't knock together.—Puck.

District Court.

The following business was transacted yesterday in the district court:

1108. People vs. Louis Rolf; larceny. Defendant arraigned and pleads not guilty.

1102. People vs. Alvin Calkins; assault with intent to kill. The trial of this case occupied all day, the testimony being all in at the time of adjournment. The defendant was one of the Colorado Springs Salvation army who stabbed another soldier in January last.

1404. People vs. James H. Trotter. Reset for trial May 13.

The only remaining cases for trial are those against Hayden and Watson.

Court will meet at 9.30 this morning.

MANITOU SPRINGS.

The Mineral Water company reports business thriving under the influence of the Raymond excursionists.

The annual Grand Army state encampment occurs on the 27th of this month, and preparations for the entertainment of guests are in progress.

Dr. Edward Everett Hale does not return to Manitou, as he at first intended, on account of his Denver engagements. Dr. Hale goes on from that city to Chicago, where one of his recent books is about to be published, and joins the excursionists in that place.

The forebodings of the weather prophets have come true, and the clouds have hung ominously over Manitou as a sign that the Raymond excursionists have arrived. Parties have been driving here and there about the town, to the Garden of the Gods, and to the Grand caverns, while a few have been hunting carefully about the foundations of the new buildings of the town in search of specimens.

THE CITY COUNCIL.

Following is the report of the sewer committee:

To His Honor the Mayor and City Council, City of Colorado Springs, Colorado:

Your sewer committee report the following regarding sewer construction for your consideration:

Work of construction has commenced in July and the total length of pipe laid is as follows:

12 inch	11,457 feet
10 inch	4,294 feet
8 inch	9,139 feet

Making grand total for all diameters 22,890 feet.

There has also been required 81 man-holes, 4 flush tanks, 664 [illegible] branches, 20,220 pounds of cast iron, 1215 pounds of wrought iron, 17 yards of concrete and 18,900 feet of boulders.

We wish to call attention to the changes made in diameter of pipe, as actually laid, and that as called for in advertisement for proposals, July 9, 1891. The final location of line 8 was found advisable to increase the quantity of 12 inch pipe and entirely eliminate the quantity of 8 inch, and when the bids were received they were found to be exceedingly low, so that it was possible to increase the larger diameters and still have sufficient funds to complete the contract.

Comparison of quantities as first proposed and as actually laid is as follows:

	Feet.	Feet.
12 inch pipe as called for in proposals	7,000
12 inch pipe as actually laid		11,457
10 inch pipe as called for	2,500
10 inch pipe as actually laid		4,294
8 inch pipe as called for	4,800
8 inch pipe as actually laid		9,139
6 inch pipe as called for	3,800
6 inch pipe as actually laid
Grand total all diameters as called for in proposals	22,500
Grand total all diameters as actually laid		22,890

Or in other words, there has been 4900 feet laid in excess of that called for in proposal, and all this of larger diameter of pipe.

In addition to the above (and not included in contract) has been laid 1100 feet of extension on Line 3 (6 inch); this is form San Miguel to Buena Ventura street in alley between Nevada avenue and Weber street, of which amount 500 feet has been paid for by city and 600 feet remains unpaid as yet.

The work has all been done in a first class manner excepting about 500 feet of pipe first laid on Fountain street. This was properly laid as to alignment and grade but the joints were not properly cemented and failed to hold water. This pipe was uncovered, and repaired.

The construction of Lines 8 and 9 were made more difficult than the surface of the ground would indicate, there being 1000 lineal feet of rock work requiring blasting, such rock extending to within three or four feet of surface.

The total cost has been as follows:

Paid contractor	$21,867 62
Paid engineer	1,072 66
Paid inspectors	372 27
Paid labor: Repairing water mains, riprap on fills, paving about man-hole covers, right of way and hauling	722 25
Paid labor and material on bridges crossing Shook's run	425 00
Paid flush tanks	320 00
Paid printing	52 70
Paid printing bonds	25 00
Total for construction		$25,867 90
Additional costs paid out as follows:
Paid for care sewerage farm	350 00
Paid repairs and maintenance	1,128 21
Paid coupon bonds	3,750 00	5,228 21
Total expenditures		$31,126 11
Balance on hand		305 97
		$31,432 08

RESOURCES.

Sale of bonds	$30,000 00
Bal. in fund beg. of year	10
Appropriation for care of sewer	300 00
Rec'd from county treasurer, interest fund	1,122 98
		$31,432 08

Of the above amount the sum of $1128 21 has been paid from the construction fund for repairs, etc., on the old system, which amount should be replaced to credit of extension fund.

The total cost of extending line No. 3 is [illegible], of which amount there is still due contractor $[illegible].

There is quite a demand for extension north on lines 1 and 2, 4 and 7, and such extensions should be made as soon as practicable. This vicinity is building up rapidly and the major portion of the residences would be connected with sewer line as soon as completed.

There is not sufficient appropriation to build all those lines this year, but one in particular should be extended, i. e., line 7, passing near Colorado college, and would receive all the sewerage matter of this and various buildings connected therewith. It will require about $600 to construct this line.

The connections from water system to flush tanks have not yet been made and your committee would recommend that these connections and the construction of the line above referred to be made as soon as possible. Respectfully submitted,

W. R. ROBY,
J. A. LAWSON,
E. C. BRIGGS,
Sewer Committee.

QUARTER A CENTURY AGO

There settled in Baker county, Oregon, near what is now Baker City, a man who has since become identified with the resources and development of that country. This man is no other than Mr. John Stewart, one of the wealthiest and most influential citizens in the county. In a recent letter he says: "I had been suffering from pains in my back and kidneys, a kidney complaint for some time, and had used many remedies without any but temporary relief. The pains in my back had become so severe that I was prevented from attending to my work, and could not move about without the use of a cane. Hearing, through a friend, of the wonderful cures effected by Oregon Kidney Tea, I was induced to try a box, and from that very first dose I found instant relief, and before using half the contents of the box the pains in my back entirely disappeared. I have every faith in the virtues of the Oregon Kidney Tea, and can conscientiously recommend it to my friends. I would not be without it for anything."

Oregon Kidney Tea cures backache, incontinence of urine, brick dust sediment, burning or painful sensation while urinating, and all affections of the kidneys or urinary organs of either sex.

THE GAZETTE.

TUESDAY, APRIL 16, 1895.

[illegible] Pass [illegible] to be paid by May 1.

Mr. Will Evans, of the GAZETTE business office, has received from Governor [illegible] as notary public.

[illegible] of the Crowell Company occurs this evening. [illegible] supposed to be [illegible].

J. M. Downing has begun suit in the county court to secure a divorce by Mrs. A. M. Downing, alleging desertion.

Among recent heavy purchasers of property at Broadmoor are J. V. L. Pruyn, of New York, and Mr. T. Coleman, of London.

Mr. Sharpless Pastorius and Miss Pastorius and Miss Gertrude White leave this evening for Boston and will shortly sail for Europe.

C. C. Butler and J. A. Coil, lately from Pike View, have purchased the Brunswick billiard hall of Fred Bink, and will continue the work.

The doors to the vault were placed in the new postoffice building yesterday, and it is now thought the removal can be effected on Thursday next.

Mr. E. S. Woolley was thrown from his horse while riding on North Cascade avenue Sunday afternoon. We are pleased to state that he was not seriously injured.

Mr. W. L. Conant, so long and favorably known in Colorado Springs business circles, has again engaged in business at 107 Pike's Peak avenue in the fish, fruit and vegetable line. He opened for business yesterday.

Mr. P. B. P[illegible], the owner of the stone building at Fourth and Colorado avenue, West Colorado Springs, has purchased Mr. Robert Gale's residence property on Washington avenue, through the real estate agency of Edward Ferris, for $4000.

A good many people went out to the [illegible] or to Austin Bluffs in search of wild flowers Sunday afternoon. The [illegible] are not yet few and far between, but [illegible] the ground will be fairly blue with them in many places. There are also a few "[illegible]" and wild lilies in bloom on the plains.

A satisfactory settlement has been reached in the matter under dispute between the Christian church trustees and the contractors. The building was completed and the contractors agree to remedy this and deduct $400 from the contract price. The church is to be [illegible] immediately, but the [illegible] will not be over for some weeks.

Mr. R. Fr[illegible], the proprietor of the "[illegible] of Wisdom," has just completed the decoration of the [illegible] the walls and ceiling have been [illegible] the wood work painted [illegible] with a soft piece of oil cloth. Mr. Frech intends to maintain in the future the standard for a good quality of food, well cooked, which he has established, and to serve a variety of hot drinks up to 10 o'clock every night.

[illegible] Brown and Grant Crumley, [illegible] men who run the night street [illegible] who are [illegible] of their succ[illegible] have moved from [illegible] street. It is from F. M. Miller & Co's big [illegible], at Quincy, Ill., and cost $1,300. The lining is of green cloth, [illegible] and windows filled with plate [illegible] and the finish elegant throughout. [illegible] will find it a pleasant to visit the work.

The [illegible] of the Central District [illegible] at Broadmoor has been postponed [illegible] until Thursday and Friday, [illegible] 24. This [illegible] done that those coming from a distance may take advantage of half rates offered by the railroads at that time to those attending the National meeting of the G. A. R. at Madison. About twenty-five persons have [illegible] their intention of being present at the shoot, and more time will be given to prepare for them.

Mr. J. F. Murray, the editor of the Burlington Boomerang, was in the city Monday. He said that the people out in Kit Carson county were very sure of [illegible] crop this year from the seed given by the state, and that if they succeeded it would put them pretty well on their feet. Mr. Murray thought that the old settlers here last winter [illegible] needed, and said that although some people did receive aid who did not need it, he did not think that there was more than five sacks of flour or five articles of wearing apparel which either went to alleviate or to prevent actual suffering.

Two young girls of the city, aged about 15 years, resolved to see the world on Saturday, and deciding that more of it is on exhibition at Leadville than any other place started in that direction on the Midnight train. Marshal Deos and [illegible] followed shortly after midnight and brought up at Spinney, where he found the two calmly waiting at the depot. They had run out off the train Saturday night, not having any money and were waiting to ride to the next station. The marshal put them under arrest and brought them to the city. A trial will be had this morning and both will probably be sent to the reform school. For the sake of the mother of one of the girls, who is a hard working woman, the matter is not supposed.

The Rev. H. C. Warner, the new pastor of the Methodist church of this city, preached last Sunday for the first time to his congregation. The church was well filled both morning and evening, and the congregation seemed very favorably impressed with the stranger from Iowa. Mr. Warner stated to his evening audience that the coming week would be spent by him in arranging his affairs and in preparing for the arrival of his family, and not till after this could he give his full attention to his church work. He has been merely temporarily assigned to the place by the Methodist [illegible], although it is very probable that at the conference's next meeting he will be established here permanently.

THE CITY COUNCIL.

BUSY SESSION AT AN ADJOURNED MEETING LAST NIGHT.

The Ordinance Fixing the Hours of Labor and Changing the Names of Certain Streets Fall of Passage—Report of the Sewer and Water Committee.

All the members of the city council were present and in their places last night and Mayor Sullivan. [illegible] Several of the aldermen elect were also present to get the run of things. The reading of the minutes for several meetings past occupied considerable time at the beginning of the session, the unapproved records dating back to March 16.

A petition was read from J. P. Curtis, E. P. Moon and others asking that water mains be laid through the streets and alleys of Fairview addition. Referred to the incoming council.

A petition was read from W. F. Slocum, Jr., president of Colorado college, asking that the trustees of the college be allowed to put in a small water motor for the ventilating apparatus in the new Girls' hall and make connections with the city water main on Cascade avenue. On motion of Alderman McCreery the request was granted.

Alderman Lach moved that the council adjourn not later than 10 o'clock and that it then adjourn until Saturday evening at 7:30.

Alderman Gillingham moved that the ordinance fixing the hours of labor at nine, for the laborers employed by the city, be placed on its passage.

Alderman McCreery moved that the ordinance be amended so as not to apply to the officers of the city. Alderman Gillingham accepted the amendment and the city attorney changed the ordinance to suit. The ordinance then failed of passage by a vote of five to five, the mayor not being able to vote upon the passage of an ordinance.

The city clerk read an abstract of the votes cast at the city election last Tuesday.

On motion of Alderman Rudy, further action on the ordinance changing the names of certain streets was indefinitely postponed.

The bill of F. A. Neff for posts which were in a fence running near Prospect lake, and were floated off by the water, was referred.

Certain petitions for the extension of water mains were referred to the next council. Bills from E. F. Wellles, Captain De Courcy and George H. Parsons, for pipe laid in additions to the city, were referred to the next council.

The report of the water committee of week before last year was read by Alderman Rowe, and on motion of Alderman Rowe was ordered printed in the official paper of the city. It is as follows:

To His Honor, the Mayor, and City Council of the City of Colorado Springs:

Gentlemen—Your water works committee submits the following report for your consideration:

LAKE MORAINE DAM.

Construction of the work was commenced July 17, 1890. Owing to the late rains of the season, the severe cold peculiar to this altitude early in the fall, it was impossible to push the work to completion, and is now practically three-fourths completed.

The dam proper is composed of earth, embankment 260 feet long, 35 feet at greatest depth, 196 feet wide on bottom and 30 feet wide on top. The inner slope is rip-rapped with stones to a thickness of 2 feet. A puddle trench 30 feet in width was carried down to an impervious bed of clay 18 feet below the natural surface. This was more laborious and expensive than was anticipated, but gives absolute assurance of the perfect safety of the dam. The outlet pipe is of steel, 20 inches in diameter, and is passed through the mountain side south of and entirely separated from the dam. This pipe is enclosed in solid stone masonry. The valve chamber is 38 feet deep and built of solid masonry. There has been 180 barrels of Portland cement used throughout the work.

The total cost of same to date has been as follows:

Work on dam proper	$15,[illegible] 32
Materials	1,[illegible] 76
Labor [illegible]
letting contract	[illegible] 72
Labor on roads, [illegible] basin, preliminary engineering, etc.	1,[illegible] 38
Total cost to date	$18,[illegible] 07

It will require six weeks time and $4000 to complete this work.

BEAVER CREEK PIPE LINE.

This contemplates a line of pipe 200 feet in length from Beaver creek over "Seven Lakes Divide" to Lake Moraine. Steel pipe sixteen inches in diameter is used. The work of trenching and filling was let by contract. All materials, hauling and labor for laying pipe was done by city. As with Lake Moraine dam, the late date of beginning work prevented completing same and added considerable to the cost thereof, but it was thought absolutely necessary to have all materials on the ground ready for early completion in the spring, as owing to heavy snow fall here, it would be impossible to haul in materials before June or July. All materials are on the ground, one-half the pipe in place and the work can be completed in three weeks.

The cost to date is as follows:

Pipe [illegible]	[illegible]
Lead	500 00
Freight on pipe	3,[illegible] 10
Hauling materials	7,[illegible] 25
Contract work on trench	[illegible] 30
All other labor and materials	1,342 65
Total	$[illegible] 72

Amount required to complete work, including two tool houses at level, $6000.

BEAVER DITCH.

This work was commenced in 1889, but was not completed until August, 1890. This ditch will conduct the water of Beebmer creek into Lake Moraine reservoir.

The cost in 1890 was $2127.79.

BEAVER CREEK DITCH.

A survey was made for this ditch from Beaver creek to Seven Lakes divide, the line which follows mid-way between the Moraine ditch and Beaver creek pipe line. The [illegible] properly recorded, but nothing further done [illegible] This would be for the time of the Beaver creek pipe line.

PIPE DITCH.

This conveys water from North Cheyenne creek into the Beaver creek pipe line, and thence through the system into Prospect Lake, and is intended to be used as a feeder for this lake. The ditch is two feet on the bottom, two feet deep and has a carrying capacity of 22.8 cubic feet of water per second. All labor and materials were furnished by the city and the total cost is $4427.57.

[illegible]

This work consists of two earthen dams, 1310 feet and 800 feet respectively, in length, let by contract and has cost as follows:

Amount paid contractor	$[illegible] 00
Pipe and labor	384 13
Total	$[illegible] 13

PIPE LINES.

In addition to above work on reservoir, ditches, etc., the following works are completed or under construction:

Pipe line to Prospect Lake from Tejon street via Willamette avenue.

This line is 12 inches in diameter and is intended for a feeder to the lake, and also to carry the waters of Beaver creek into the city for irrigating purposes and can be utilized for this purpose south of Dale street. The city furnished all labor and materials and is has cost as follows:

Pipe, etc.	$[illegible] 70
Hauling materials	354 19
All other labor	[illegible]
Total	$[illegible] 07

BOULEVARD AND PIPE LINE AROUND PROSPECT LAKE.

In following out the term of agreement with the Colorado Springs Co. for the Prospect lake reservoir, there has been constructed a pipe line encircling the lake, and the boulevard is now under construction.

The pipe line cost, as follows: 3 and 2 inch pipe, labor and materials, $1,304 [illegible].

REPORT FROM CONTRACTOR.

This work is under contract and is progressing as rapidly as possible, about one third of the work being completed.

Total cost of this work will be about $5,000.

EAST END ADDITIONS.

Under the contract made with the Colorado Springs Co. in the purchase of Prospect Lake Reservoir, the city agreed to lay, during the year 1890, an 8 inch pipe through Cache La Poudre street, from Weber street east to east line of East End Addition, a distance of 11,600 feet; and during the year 1893, to lay a six inch pipe through the East End Addition, from north to south, a distance of about one and one-half miles; and during the year 1892 to complete the line across the north end of East End Addition to connect with the Hunfano street line at Prospect lake, a distance of about three-quarters of a mile.

The portion [illegible] to be done in 1890 has been completed. The amount necessary for the 1891 work on this line has been included in annual appropriation for 1891 use.

IRRIGATION WELLS.

This item covers the irrigation wells on the Monument Creek, near Russell, also cost of engine and pumps, and while this was not authorized by, or done under, the supervision of this committee, it was paid for from the water fund. Cost of the same was $1,[illegible].

WATER WORKS.

Owing to the large expenditures which have been made for a water system for this city from Bottom Lake Moraine and Beaver creek, it was thought absolutely necessary to discover where legal condemnation proceedings for the damages of a population of at least 30,000 inhabitants. After an identification the springs were found on Beaver creek near the confluence with the Arkansas river, having unauthorized principally upon the ditches belonging to Chas. Lacks. The springs and ditches, quantity the ditches, were purchased and the city owns the ditch junction on Beaver creek, having a combined capacity of fifteen (15) cubic feet of water per second of time, and the total cost for the same was $17,[illegible].

These properties are leased for a term of two years, but owing to a late decision of the supreme court the city council may at any time [illegible] and secure the water [illegible] so the actual cost of priority will not be greater than $[illegible] or $10,000.

[illegible] ON NEW PIPES.

Surveys have been made for extending this ditch to Prospect lake, the object of which is to gather as much surplus water as may be needed for supply to Prospect lake, and will serve a twofold purpose, always insuring a full supply and the sediment carried by ditch water will thoroughly puddle the lake bottom.

Negotiations are now progressing for buying the Holden ditch in order to more fully complete this work.

CONCLUSION.

In conclusion, your committee would call attention to the assistance rendered by the citizens' committee, viz: Messrs. Irving Howbert, W. S. Jackson, W. M. Strickler, George H. Parsons and Matt France, and would acknowledge their obligations to these gentlemen for the very efficient service rendered your committee, in arranging and conducting the various matters which we have had in hand.

And we further suggest to the council the advisability of continuing the citizens' committee, at least, until the completion of the work now being done.

Respectfully submitted,

J. P. BARNES,
H. C. McCREERY,
W. R. ROWE,
Water Committee.

The police committee designated the following stands for hacks and express wagons: On the north side of Huerfano street, immediately south of the old Gazette building and the Armory hall; on the north side of Pike's Peak avenue, south of the First National bank, when said bank is closed, and on the south side of Pike's Peak avenue, north of the Exchange National bank.

The annual reports of the fire department, police, printing and sewer committees were received and ordered on file, and the latter was ordered to be printed, after which the council adjourned pursuant to the action earlier in the evening.

A CAPTURE.

Yesterday afternoon Marshal Dare received a telegram from Ed. C. Baldwin, sheriff at Adrian, Mich., stating that he believed the F. A. Fox was located in this city, and that he is wanted at that place for forgery.

Captain Gathright was detailed to look after the case and in a short time found Fox located at the St. James hotel, South Cascade avenue. He is a young man of 23 years, weighs 160 pounds and is five feet eight inches in height. Nothing is known regarding the crime with which he is charged, but there is a reward of $50 for his capture.

The latest operatic spectacle "Blue Beard, Jr.," is booked to appear at the opera house next Monday evening. The company is the largest and most expensive that has ever appeared in our city. They are now in the second week of their engagement at the Tabor Grand opera house in Denver and are drawing crowded houses. The press of that city speaks in high terms of the company and their performance.

The board of county commissioners in session yesterday let the contracts for doing the county printing for the year, for the burial of paupers and for supplying coal. The GAZETTE Printing company was the lowest bidder for the printing and got the contract. Hallett & Baker made the last bid for the burial of paupers and H. Wandell & Co., agents for the Sunshine coal, got the contract for coal. Mr. F. E. Nichols was appointed representative of the county at the Trans-Mississippi Commercial congress at Denver, May 19.

G. F. Threlkill was a slightly inebriated gentleman last Sunday and while in that condition he took a notion to seize a mop handle and beat his wife vigorously over the head with it. His second victim was a man who happened along at the time and who received a number of cuts about the head from Threlkill's weapon. Threlkill was given a short time to think over his deeds during Sunday night in the city jail, and yesterday morning was fined $12 and costs, amounting in all to $16.65.

One of our aldermen elect is in hard luck. Yesterday he left his horse standing on the street unhitched and a policeman came along and took it down to the city hall, not being able to find an owner for it. The alderman that will be, next Monday night, went down to the city hall and not being able, in his turn, to find anyone in authority took his property. Now he is amenable on two counts, but Magistrate Kinsley will no doubt be merciful as to one of them.

Mr. Rosso, who is said to come not far from the celebrated Mr. Stone in mind reading and other feats of the sort is to give an entertainment in The Antlers parlor to-night.

NEW GEMS.

Among the valuable gems the "Noble Opal" has from earliest times held a very prominent position—in later times superstition seems to have likely to ruin the chances of public favor for the "Queen of Night." Now again the demand for first class stones is far in excess of the supply. A decided modern taste amongst the lovers of higher art is creating an excited demand for "Carved Opal," they are exquisite, the artist taking advantage of every play of color and using the polishing as a back ground, produces effects unattainable with any other gem.

We have a comfortable five roomed house with south front on a good street right in the centre of the city. Another good thing to buy is a lot in Hillside Addition. We have these at $[illegible] to $400 each, on monthly payments of $12. They are near the business quarter, are on the way to Prospect Lake and are within the reach of anyone. See us about them.
